Governor Speaks Here Wednesday

Women's Chorus to Give Bach's Christmas Oratorio In December Concert

The University Chorus, under the direction of John Lester, associate professor of music, will present a concert Dec. 2, at 8:15 p. m., in the Student Union Auditorium. This is the first time a concert of this type has been given here. There will be an admission charge for the performance.

The program consists of Bach's "Christmas Oratorio," sung in four parts. The Chorus will be accompanied by Organist Mrs. Florence Smith, professor of organ. Georgie Willis, Somers, will be the piano accompanist, and Mr. Lester will give baritone recitatives.

Bette Kennett, Marilyn McConochie, Betty June Smith, Lewistown; Betty June Kratz, Absarokee; Virginia McCabe, Ruth Martin, Marjorie Ralston, Billings. Frances Manning, Philipsburg; Lorraine Mannix, Helmsville; Lillian Martin, Stanford; Ada Masini, Klein; Sara Miles, Powderville; Marjorie Milligan, Miles City; Wilma Oksendahl, Plentywood; Penelope Risser, Placerville, Cal.

Helen Robbins, Milltown; Flora Mae Sagen and Lois Sanders, Troy; Garnet Sethne and Lillian Wedum, Glasgow; Janice Smith, Cut Bank; Helen Sugrue, Anaconda; Virginia Swanson, Ft. Benton, and Peg Westlake, Bozeman.

Grizzly Hoopsters Continue Practice, Hope for Reversal

Although the decision of the Athletic Board to abandon intercollegiate basketball still holds, several University men have been practicing daily in the hope that the decision will be changed.

Coach Ed Chinske, Missoula High School, is of the opinion that the boys have possibilities for developing into a strong team. Chinske will advise the Board as to whether or not their talent would warrant an intercollegiate schedule. If the team looks good, an Athletic Board meeting will be called for further discussion.

Traveling, coaching, financing and scheduling problems still confront the Board, even if the players prove to have sufficient basketball talent.

War Activities Committee will meet at 4 o'clock in the Student Union lounge, George Prlain, Butte, chairman, announces.

Spurs Give Annual Dinner

Both new and old Spurs were entertained at the annual Spur banquet given in the Blue Room of the Cafe Montmartre, Tuesday evening. Dean Mary Elrod Ferguson, Spur advisor Mrs. Paul A. Bischoff and alum advisor Bernice Hansen, Deer Lodge, were guests.

During the summer, members of the sophomore women's honorary searched for spurs with historical significance to give to their big sisters this fall. A varied program followed the presentation of the spurs. Janice Johnson, Great Falls, played a violin solo, accompanied by Ann Elliot, Lavina. The Halter twins, Sunburst, played a piano duet, "Dark Eyes," and an original song was dedicated to the old Spurs and sung by Rudy Sackett and Sue Fraser, Billings, and Virginia Frach and Pat Petterson, Great Falls.

Doris Johnson, Thompson Falls, read a history of her spur told in story form, and the remainder of the program was devoted to talks by Dean Ferguson, Bernice Hansen, Eileen Plumb and Irene Caras.

Date is Set By Chorus For Messiah

The Mixed Chorus, which will be composed of 55 girls, and it is planned, of about the same number of Aviation Students, will offer its annual presentation of Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," at 8:15 p.m., Dec. 13, in the Student Union Auditorium. The Missoula Lions' Club male chorus, directed by Clarence Bell, may be combined with the group.

DeLoss Smith, dean of the School of Music from 1913 to 1939, was first to present "The Messiah," and it has since developed into a Christmas tradition. The oratorio is a semi-dramatic composition, and the program on Dec. 13 will include the advent sections as well as the better-known Christmas airs. The "Hallelujah Chorus" is the climax number.

A/S James McCormick, Squadron 3 commander, is in charge of the male groups from the CTD. "The Messiah" which has always been presented at 4 o'clock in other years, was changed to 8:30 o'clock as it interfered with retreat. The aviation students could not be excused at that time.

GOVERNOR SAM C. FORD

Upperclass Pre-registers For Winter

Advance registration for juniors and seniors will be from December 1 to 4, inclusive, Miss Henrietta Wilhelm, assistant registrar, announced yesterday.

Formerly the advance registration extended over a longer period and included all the student body. Now, only upperclass students are registered before winter quarter to speed the work over two separate periods.

Junior and senior students should present their student handbooks at window two in the Registrar's office and secure their registration forms there Tuesday, Nov. 30.

On this same day they should make appointments with their advisers. After securing the adviser's signature on card two of the registration certificate, each student should return his cards to window two of the Registrar's office not later than noon, Saturday, Dec. 4.

Freshmen and sophomore students will not register until January 3. Registration at that time will be in the Women's Gym, where advisers will meet with students. First classes for winter quarter will meet at 8 o'clock, Tuesday, January 4.

NOTICE TO SENIORS

All seniors who expect to graduate at the end of the winter or spring quarters, 1944, must file application for degrees and certificates not later than 4 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 6.

Ford Views Peace Plans At Convo

Gov. Sam C. Ford will discuss Montana's responsibility toward ex-servicemen and women during the post-war period at a Thanksgiving convocation, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

University students, the Army Air Force CTD, faculty, and townspeople will attend. The Army Air Force band will play. This program is to be re-broadcast Thanksgiving day over KGVO, Missoula, and KFBB, Great Falls.

Sam C. Ford was born in Albany, Kentucky. He was a student in the law department at the University of Kansas.

His law practice began in Helena. Since his first position as assistant United States attorney, he has been actively engaged in Montana political affairs. He successfully became attorney general and associate justice of the Supreme Court. In 1940 he was elected governor of the state.

Chancellor E. O. Melby appraises the governor as "an exceedingly friendly person, very cordial, and easy to approach. His interest lies in the development of Montana and especially in its people."

Governor Ford has always been concerned with education and its welfare. At present he is devoting himself to post-war planning and the problem of unemployment after the war.

Capt. Misevic Named Major

ROTC Head Promoted, Receives Major's Stars, With MSU Since 1940

George W. Misevic, assistant professor of military science and tactics, was promoted to the rank of major Nov. 4.

Major Misevic began his military career here in September, 1940. In addition to ROTC instruction duties, he also commands the Army Student Training Unit located on the campus. Prior to his assignment here, Major Misevic was on duty at Fort Missoula.

Acclaimed as being one of the greatest all-around athletes ever to attend Montana State College, Major Misevic graduated in 1934. Remaining a true sportsman, he has been very active in school athletics here, volunteering his services as freshman track coach and varsity swimming coach. His teams have repeatedly placed high on the Pacific coast and have continued to retain the state intercollegiate swimming championship.

His active interest in military procedure began when he was graduated as an advanced ROTC student from Montana State College. Since then he has been on duty in various parts of Texas, Utah, Washington and Montana.

Major Misevic was born in Butte. Perhaps this accounts for his very definite preference for Montana to other states. However, he says he likes it not only for its wonderful climate, but because it is a sportsman's paradise.

Jesse Heads Officers For Freshman Class

Bill Jesse, Missoula, was re-elected president of the freshman class at the permanent election for class officers yesterday afternoon.

Frank McCarty, Boulder, was elected vice-president; Shirley Davis, Butte, is secretary, and Vernell Fisher, Fort Benton, is class treasurer.

As is the custom, freshman class elections were held earlier in the fall for temporary officers. However, a later election was scheduled for yesterday, after freshmen became better acquainted.

Perkins Declares Campaign Closed

Soliciting of Mountaineer subscriptions will end this week, announced Virginia Perkins, Harlowton, editor. Staff members have been canvassing campus buildings and residence houses offering special subscription rates for the four issues of the magazine.

The first issue will be available Dec. 1, and will be on sale at the Student Store, Miss Perkins said. Persons having subscriptions may pick up their magazines at that time.

Sappenfield is Inducted; Reports to Army Soon

Bert R. Sappenfield, instructor in psychology at Montana State University, who was inducted into the Army in Butte on Nov. 9, will report for duty soon.

Mr. Sappenfield came to the University in 1941 from New York University, where he was research assistant in psychology. He received his M.A. degree from New York University in 1938 and his Ph.D. from the same school in 1941.

Girls Pursue "Little Abners" for Hop

Notice to all men on the campus—beware of Saturday, Dec. 11! "Daisy Mae" will again catch her man for the annual Sadie Hawkins dance to be sponsored by last year's Spurs.

Every woman on the campus is urged to attend dressed in the traditional "Daisy Mae" costume and bringing her "Little Abner" to the first girl-date-boy affair to be given in the Student Union Gold room.

The idea of a Sadie Hawkins dance began four years ago on MSU campus inspired from the comic strip "Little Abner" in which Sadie was so homely that she had to go out and "ketch" a man to marry her. Since the first dance was given, it has been an annual affair.

Eileen Plumb, president of last year's Spurs, has announced that it will be a program dance. A contest will be held for the girl appearing most like "Daisy Mae" and a prize will be offered by the Spurs, who are in charge of all arrangements.

Traditions Not Dead . . .

What makes a tradition?

University women will have a chance next month to find out, when the counselors entertain their counselees at the AWS party. More than that, they will have the chance to prove that traditions need not be a dead issue.

On a campus full of women this year, the counselor system is one of the few programs devoted entirely to the interests of women. Lately, several weaknesses have appeared in its makeup, and its officers realize that changes must be made or the program will die. With that idea in mind, Chairman Irene Caras is agitating discussions to bring the problem before University women for solution.

The counselor system is designed, as Dean Mary Elrod Ferguson has stated, "to help freshman women make better adjustments to college life and to show that the campus is a friendly place."

Toward that purpose, counselors are appointed to freshman girls, get-acquainted parties are sponsored, and group discussions on University problems are scheduled. From that point, interest and cooperation in the system drops off.

At the Friday night party, University women will have their chance to prove that the trust placed in them to keep the campus alive and united is not a vague idea. If every woman takes an interest in the event, strives sincerely to meet her counselee, and then tries wholeheartedly to make a friend of her for the remaining year, the counselor system will be advanced a long way toward being the success it was seven years ago.—L. G.

BEHIND The International Front

By GERALD CASTILE

THE BALKANS: Gateway to Freedom

The Balkan states have long been the center of Europe's political intrigue and military unrest. The first World War supposedly began in Serbia with the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand of Austria. It was later proved, however, that fourteen days prior to the assassination the German high command had completed its arrangements for a full-scale war.

There has probably been more continual warfare in the Balkan countries than in any other one spot on earth. The present hostilities between General Mihailovich and Partisan General "Tito" is no exception to the rule.

While the guerrilla bands of the two insurgent leaders battle one another on one hand, they simultaneously wage a superb war against the hated German occupation forces.

The hostile interaction between the two generals is regrettable, for there is no tribute too high to pay to these loyal forces of a new freedom. At the same time the Yugoslav government in exile should have its official face slapped, for instead of making an attempt to straighten out the opposite views of the two leaders it merely added more fuel to the fire by saying that Mihailovich is right and that "Tito" is wrong.

In my opinion the English statement from Cairo more nearly approached the truth when it said that both sides were probably wrong. I am firmly convinced that the Balkans have yet to reach their position of significance that will be due them for their ultimate contribution to the breaching of Hitler's "Fortress Europa".

Picture in your mind's-eye map of Europe, mighty Allied armies plunging toward the center of the German Reich from the Dalmatian coast; upward from Venice, across the old Austrian frontier; then a flanking drive around the coast pushing northward on a mission of liberation for France. Meanwhile, a synchronized invasion from England aimed at Le Havre, Calais, Brussels and Gravenhage on the French invasion coast, would complete Allied operations. Needless to say, the Russian army would continue its irresistible push from the east until the last Nazi soldier has raised his hands in surrender or been crushed under Stalin's unforgiving vengeance.

Press Hears Sanderson

Presses were roaring turning out the copies of the evening paper. The editor yelled "Stop the presses, murder story just broke." The phones were ringing and the teletype machine called out for 30 more words for the Associated Press. Two minutes to go on a hot news story. An urgent ring called the editor to the phone.

A weak little voice asked, "How do you spell Guadalcanal?"

"That is only one of the many experiences I've had during my brief association in newspaper work," Arthur M. "Deke" Sanderson, editor of the Missoula Sentinel, told Press Club, Tuesday evening.

Deke has done every kind of work in a newspaper office from janitor work to editor.

"The birth of my journalistic career," Deke said, "was with the publication of the Daily News, a local newspaper with a circulation of two." He published this at the age of nine.

Deke was graduated from the

Service Altar To Be Dedicated

To express home-front appreciation of the sacrifices of the men and women in the armed forces, and to remind civilians that their lives, too, must be made to count for the common cause, a service altar was dedicated, Nov. 14, at the Congregational church, the Rev. Guy L. Barnes, pastor, announced yesterday.

The altar is expected to maintain a complete and permanent service record book of the members of the armed forces.

The Rev. Mr. Barnes has taken over the religion classes of the University formerly taught by the Rev. Harvey F. Baty, who is on a year's leave of absence.

Volunteers Roll 41,369 Bandages

One-sixth of the number of surgical dressings turned in by Missoula county has been made by the bandage-rolling classes in the Student Union. Mrs. Rudolph Hoffman, supervisor of surgical dressings, reports 41,369 dressings have been made by the volunteers during the year beginning November, 1942. Faculty women, cadets' wives and University women have donated 2,611 hours to the project.

With the beginning of fall quarter, new interest has been taken by sorority women and University women. To date, the Delta Gammas have had the largest turnout and have set the bandage-rolling record.

Variety Show Introduces Squadron Three Talent

Variety was the keynote of "Squadron 3 On the Air," musical show presented Friday, Nov. 12, in the Student Union theater. Directed and produced by A/S John W. McCormick, squadron commander, and woven together by A/S Edward W. Solomon, master of ceremonies, the show introduced a cast of 30 unusually talented aviation students.

Novelty hit of the program was A/S Chester Heick, who exhibited a remarkable voice range as he imitated various radio personalities.

A/S Lewis W. Schnable, tumbler performed backward somersaults and other feats of co-ordination, while A/S Irvin Scharfenbarger, jitterbugged in Harlem style.

To top the musical side of the show baritone McCormick, director, sang "Rio Rita." An original number, reported to have been composed on the drill field, called "Walking the Ramp Over You," was sung by the author, A/S Kenneth C. Massey.

Wandering unannounced onto the stage throughout the program, gag-men A/S Charles H. Cattle and A/S R. E. Bennett aimed pointed jokes at rival squadrons. A/S Samuel I. Davis, Jr., read "The Personal History of Squadron 3," an amusing document patterned on Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

An abundance of musical talent was displayed as A/S Archie S. Barnhill sang popular blues tunes and A/S John A. Johnson played the accordion. A/S Elmo D. Dyerly sang, "I Never Mention Your Name" and versatile A/S Chester Heick, imitator, doubled as an Irish vocalist singing "My Wild Irish Rose" and "When Irish Eyes are Smiling."

A cowboy band composed of Aviation Students Arthur F. Ingram, Frank J. Bean, and John H. Limpkin, swung out with western melodies. Mimicing mannerisms and voices, A/S Charles W. Hamilton imitated well-known radio singers, notably Frank Sinatra.

Two short plays entitled "The Affairs of the Sad Sack and His Girl-Friend Becky" and "Typical First Day of a New Squadron on the Drill Field" were usual musical show humor.

Talking fast and hard, A/S Ray Honza left the audience breathless and confused with his humorous reading.

ENSIGN SCOTT VISITS

Sports in Shorts

By CHARLOTTE PARKES

The Sigma Chi girls, by defeating the Delta Gammas Tuesday evening, 24 to 20, maintained their undefeated standing in the Volleyball B League round-robin tournament. They have played two games and share top honors with the Sigma Nu team, who have won all three games they have played. Leading the A League are the Alpha Phis and the Sigma Kappas, with three winning games each. Alpha Chis, Tri-Delts and the SAE girls are running close, with two wins and two losses each.
